

MEAP Social Studies Standard Setting Performance Level Descriptors (PLDs)

There are four Performance Levels in social studies:

- (1) Exceeded Michigan Standards
- (2) Met Michigan Standards
- (3) Basic
- (4) Apprentice

The Standard Setting PLDs define in detail what students at each grade and performance level should know and be able to do in relation to the Michigan social studies curriculum framework.

In September 2005, groups of Michigan educators were brought together to develop these PLDs, taking into account both the curriculum framework and the social studies assessments themselves. In January 2006, the PLDs were used by Michigan educators, parents, and community members to determine recommended cut scores between the performance levels. The recommended cut scores were formally adopted by the Michigan State Board of Education in January 2006.

In this document, only the first three levels are defined explicitly. The fourth level (apprentice) is defined as not meeting the requirements for the basic level.

The PLDs are presented in two ways:

- 1. Within grade level across performance levels—this presentation shows how performance progresses from one performance level to the next within each grade.
- 2. Within performance level across grades—this presentation shows how student performance progresses from one grade to another within each performance level.

The Social Studies MEAP given in the Fall in grades 6 and 9 measures the social studies knowledge and skills expected at the end of grades 5 and 8.

MEAP Social Studies Grade 6 Performance Level Descriptors (Across Performance Levels) (Addresses Grade 5 Knowledge and Skills)

Basic (Level 3)	Met (Level 2)	Exceeded (Level 1)
Shows a limited recognition of people and	Places significant people and events in chronological	Shows understanding of the cause and effect relationship the order of Michigan and U.S. historical	order in Michigan and U.S. History	between people and events in Michigan and U.S. history events
Shows a limited understanding of the major	Can identify the major themes of U.S. and Michigan	Recognizes the connections within the major themes of themes of Michigan history and U.S.	history	Michigan and U.S. history history
Uses primary sources to demonstrate	Uses primary sources to understand conflicting	Uses primary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting knowledge of historical events	accounts of historical events	accounts of historical events
Shows knowledge of the five themes of	Shows an understanding of the five themes of	Recognizes connections between the five themes of geography	geography	geography
Can identify some geographic features of	Can describe the geography of community, state,	Applies geographic information to analyze the geography community, state, region, and nation	region, and nation	of community, state, region, and nation Shows understanding of the concept of	Shows understanding of and can describe cultural	Uses knowledge of diverse cultures to compare their culture	diversity	characteristics
Can identify types of natural and human	Can describe types of natural and human resources,	Compares and analyzes natural and human resources'
resources	their origin, use, and management	effects on our environment
Shows incomplete knowledge of the	Shows a basic knowledge of the constitution and can	Can apply constitutional principles to real circumstances
constitution	recognize constitutional principles
Can identify that different work is done by	Shows knowledge of local, state, and federal	Can identify the relationships among local, state, and different branches of government	governments	federal governments
Can identify the rights of a U.S. citizen	Explains the rights and responsibilities of U.S.	Can apply the rights and responsibilities of U.S.
	citizenship	citizenship to daily life
Shows some understanding of basic	Shows a complete understanding of basic economic	Can apply basic economic principles to daily life economic principles	principles
Can interpret and apply information from	Can interpret graphs, maps, and charts and apply	Can interpret and apply knowledge acquired from graphs, maps, and charts	relevant information	complex graphs, maps, and charts
Clearly states and provides incomplete	Clearly states and provides adequate support for a	Clearly states a public policy issue, and provides support for a position on a public policy	position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion	significant support for that position using prior social
issue		studies knowledge in an organized fashion

Page 2 of 6 1/07

MEAP Social Studies Grade 9 Performance Level Descriptors (Across Performance Levels) (Addresses Grade 8 Knowledge and Skills)

Recognize people, places, events, and lease within a historical context events, and lieas within a historical context events, and ideas within a historical context events and ideas within a historical context events from Michigan and U.S. history	Basic (Level 3)	Met (Level 2)	Exceeded (Level 1)
Can communicate key historical decisions and U.S. history Can communicate key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions Can identify that primary and secondary sources help to understand accounts of historical events Can identify that primary and secondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Can identify the five themes of geography in major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify one cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses and principles Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some world economic syste	Can recognize people, places, events, and		Analyzes the relationship between people, places, events,
Can communicate key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions Communicate key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions Uses primary and secondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of hist Can communicate key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions Can identify that primary and secondary sources to show understand accounts of historical events Can identify the five themes of geography some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Compares U.S. and world government systems Total identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some or the relationships and responsibilities Recognizes and applies constitutional values and principles Can identify me geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Locates and describes cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and their uses Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and major world regions and their impact on historical decounts of historical weens of geography and major world regions and their uses. Locates and describes cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and world geography and major world regions and major world regions Compares U.S. and proverd regions Compares U.S. and proverd regions Compares U.S. and world government systems Descr	· ·	Constructs and describes timelines of major events from
and their impact on the U.S. Can identify that primary and secondary sources to flistorical events Can identify the five themes of geography in major world regions Can identify the geography and major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes the relationship between the five themes of geography and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Cive examples of government systems around the world Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some world economic systems Can explain some important chomonic principles in a society Can explain some important economic Can explain some important economic can explain some important economic systems Can explain some important economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Describes the relationships between the five themes of ge
Can identify that primary and secondary sources to show understand accounts of historical events Can identify the five themes of geography many and peccondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Can identify the five themes of geography many and peccondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events Can identify the five themes of geography and major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes and describes cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify in portant historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can expalian some important economic principles in a society Can expalian some important economic principles in a society Can expalian some important economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy is use in an organized fashion Uses primary and secondars support for the themes of geography and major world regions Analyzes the relationships between the five themes of geography and major world regions Compares Uses primary and seconflicting accounts of historical decuments of geography and major world regions Compares Uses primary and seconflicting accounts of historical decuments of geographical characteristics of our state, analyzes the relationships between the five themes of geography and major world regions Compares Uses primary and seconflexions of pagoraphy and major world regions Co
sources help to understand accounts of historical events can identify the five themes of geography in major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes attural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify some of the relationships and principles Can identify some of the relationships and principles Can identify some of the relationships and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important conomic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Compares U.S. and world economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Interprets conflicting accounts of historical decaracteristics of our state, Analyzes the relationship between the five themes of geography and major world regions Compares U.S. and major world regions Compares U.S. and world governments systems Compares U.S. and world governments principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Interprets conflicting accounts of historical decaracteristics of our state, analon, and major world regions Can explain some important enomonic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Interpret conflicting accounts of pagaphs, and charts Compares U.S. and world regions Analyzes the relationship between the five themes		i e	ů Č
Describes the relationship between the five themes of geography and major world regions Describes the geography and major world regions Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems around the world Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management systems Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origins or natu
Can identify the five themes of geography in major world regions Can identify the geographical Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Compares U.S. and world regions Compares the geography and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Compares U.S. and world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Compares U.S. and world government systems Compares U.S. and world government systems Compares U.S. and world government systems Evaluates world government systems Compares U.S. and world government systems Evaluates world government systems Compares U.S. and world government systems Compares U.S. and world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origins or natural and human resources or natural and human resources origins or natural and human resources or natural and human resources or natural and human resources or natural and human resourc	•		interpret conflicting accounts of historical events
Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions and major world regions and major world regions and major world regions Can identify some world regions Can identify some world regions
Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Obscribes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Compares U.S. and world government systems Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies constitutional rights and responsibilities Compares U.S. and world government systems Compares U.S. and world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsib		_ characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete Call explain some or position on a public policy solven and major world regions Locates and describes cultural communities in the U.S. Locates, describes, and compares cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Locates, describes, and compares cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and evaluates their origin or faction and punct or feit punct origins, use, and part and human resources, and evaluates their origins or factural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates the application of constitutional values and p
Major world regions Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on relivations of the relationships and evaluates the impact of their
Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Describes natural and human resources, and their uses Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Reads and provides incomplete Support for a position on a public policy Locates, describes, and compares cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and them are sources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and them are sources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and them are sources, and their origin, use, management, and bunar resources, and their origin, use, management, and splain sources, and suplates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their origins of natural and huma		nation, and major world regions	nation, and major world regions
the U.S. and major world regions Describes natural and human resources, and their uses and their uses Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Can admajor world regions Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Gives examples of government systems Recognizes and applies constitutional values and principles Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Can identify important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic Therefore economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies conomic principles in world societies Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Compares U.S. and world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts and applies on a public policy issue in an organized fashion position on a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social	y e
Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Compares U.S. and world government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Can explain some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a support for a position on a public policy Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Compares U.S. and world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete Support for a position on a public policy Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the import of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Tesponsibilities Federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Applies economic	· ·
and their uses Origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Can identify some world economic systems Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy origin, use, management, and impact on major world regions Evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can identify important economic principles in a society Can i		,
Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some of the relationships Can identify important the conomic principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Can explain some world economic systems Can identify some of the relationships and principles in a society Can explain some important economic principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Interprets economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Cen explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Cen explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Clearly states and provides incomplex graphs, maps and charts and applies principles in a society Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social	·	·
Gives examples of government systems around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Can identify constitutional values and principles in a society included principles on a government systems Evaluates world government systems Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Tan explain some important economic principles in a society Compares U.S. and world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Accompared to current issues Evaluates world government systems Evaluates world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical and accompanies and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Fevaluates world economic systems Interprets complex	and their uses		•
around the world Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete sum of the relationships and applies constitutional values and principles to current issues Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic systems Compares U.S. and world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments Federal, and world governments Federal,		ŭ	y c
Can identify constitutional values and principles Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete sumports of the relationships and applies constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Recognizes and applies constitutional values and principles to current issues Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Federal, and world governments Analyzes the connection between important historical		Compares U.S. and world government systems	Evaluates world government systems principles in a society position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion		Decree de la contraction de la	Facility of a small order of anytherian along the small
Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Comments and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Evaluates world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social	- I
among state, federal, and world governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Recognizes the connection between important historical documents historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion To defer al, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic To an explain some important economic principles in a society Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social	1 1		I I governments Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Recognizes the connection between important historical documents historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Fesponsibilities Compares U.S. and world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a support for a position on a public policy Position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Position on a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Clearly states appoint in historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities responsibilities Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social		rederar, and world governments documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities responsibilities Applies economic principles in world societies Fevaluates world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Societies Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Society Compares U.S. and world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social	C	Decoming the competion between important historical and responsibilities responsibilities responsibilities responsibilities responsibilities Can explain some important economic Interprets economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy responsibilities Responsibilities Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social	* *
Can explain some important economic principles in a society Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Interprets economic principles in a society Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social		  principles in a societyCompares U.S. and world economic systemsEvaluates world economic systemsCan identify some world economic systemsEvaluates world economic systemsReads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and chartsInterprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant informationInterprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and chartsClearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policyClearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashionClearly states a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social Can identify some world economic systems Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Compares U.S. and world economic systems Evaluates world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy Compares U.S. and world economic systems Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion Significant support for that position using prior social		interprets economic principles in a society	Applies economic principles in world societies
Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy The prets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social		Compares U.S. and world economic systems	Evaluates world economic systems maps, and charts relevant information complex graphs, maps, and charts Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social		•	,
Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social support for a position on a public policy position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion significant support for that position using prior social
I MIRLION KIROWIKAISO III AH OLSANIIGHI	issue	position on a paone poney issue in an organized fusition	studies knowledge in an organized fashion.

Page 3 of 6 1/07

MEAP Social Studies "Met Standards" Performance Level Descriptors (Across Grades 6 and 9) (Addresses Grades 5 and 8 Knowledge and Skills)

Grade 6	Grade 9
Places significant people and events in chronological order in	Recognizes the relationship between people, places, events, and ideas within an
Michigan and U.S. History	historical context
	Constructs and describes timelines of major events from Michigan and US history
Can identify the major themes of U.S. and Michigan history	Communicates key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions
Uses primary sources to understand conflicting accounts of historical events	Uses primary and secondary sources to show understanding of conflicting accounts of historical events
Shows an understanding of the five themes of geography	Describes the relationship between the five themes of geography and major world regions
Can describe the geography of community, state, region, and	Describes the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world
nation	regions
Shows understanding of and can describe cultural diversity	Locates and describes cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions
Can describe types of natural and human resources, their origin,	Describes natural and human resources, and their origin, use, management, and use, and management	impact on major world regions
Shows a basic knowledge of the constitution and can recognize	Compares U.S. and world government systems constitutional principles	Recognizes and applies constitutional values and principles
Shows knowledge of local, state, and federal governments	Shows understanding of the relationship among state, federal, and world governments
Explains the rights and responsibilities of U.S. citizenship	Recognizes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities
Shows a complete understanding of basic economic principles	Interprets economic principles in a society
	Compares U.S. and world economic systems
Can interpret graphs, maps, and charts and apply relevant	Interprets complex graphs, maps and charts and applies relevant information information
Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a	Clearly states and provides adequate support for a position on a public policy
public policy issue in an organized fashion	issue in an organized fashion

Page 4 of 6 1/07

MEAP Social Studies "Exceeded Standards" Performance Level Descriptors (Across Grades 6 and 9) (Addresses Grades 5 and 8 Knowledge and Skills)

Grade 6	Grade 9
Shows understanding of the cause and effect relationship between people and events in Michigan and U.S. history	Analyzes the relationship between people, places, events, and ideas within a historical context
	Constructs, interprets, and describes timelines of major events from Michigan and US history
Recognizes the connections within the major themes of Michigan and U.S. history	Evaluates key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S. and major world regions
Uses primary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events	Uses primary and secondary sources to analyze and interpret conflicting accounts of historical events
Recognizes connections between the five themes of geography	Analyzes the relationship between the five themes of geography and major world regions
Applies geographic information to analyze the geography of community, state, region, and nation	Compares the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions
Uses knowledge of diverse cultures to compare their characteristics	Locates, describes, and compares cultural communities in the US and major world regions
Compares and analyzes natural and human resources' effects on our environment	Describes the origins of natural and human resources, and evaluates the impact of their use and management on major world regions
Can apply constitutional principles to real circumstances	Evaluates world government systems Evaluates the application of constitutional values and principles to current issues
Can identify the relationships among local, state, and federal government	Shows understanding of the relationships among state, federal, and world governments and evaluates their effectiveness
Can apply the rights and responsibilities of U.S. citizenship to daily life	Analyzes the connection between important historical documents and our constitutional rights and responsibilities
Can apply basic economic principles to daily life	Applies economic principles in world societies Evaluates world economic systems
Can interpret and apply knowledge acquired from complex graphs, maps, and charts	Interprets, analyzes, and synthesizes information from complex graphs, maps, and charts
Clearly states and provides significant support for a position on a public policy issue in an organized fashion	Clearly states a public policy issue, and provides significant support for that position using prior social studies knowledge in an organized fashion

Page 5 of 6 1/07

MEAP Social Studies "Basic" Performance Level Descriptors (Across Grades 6 and 9) (Addresses Grades 5 and 8 Knowledge and Skills)

Grade 6	Grade 9
Shows a limited recognition of people and the order of Michigan and	Can recognize people, places, events, and ideas within a historical context
U.S. historical events	Can construct timelines of major events from Michigan and U.S. history
Shows a limited understanding of the major themes of Michigan history and U.S. history	Can communicate key historical decisions and their impact on the U.S.
Uses primary sources to demonstrate knowledge of historical events	Can identify that primary and secondary sources help to understand accounts of historical events
Shows knowledge of the five themes of geography	Can identify the five themes of geography in major world regions
Can identify some geographic features of community, state, region, and nation	Can identify the geographical characteristics of our state, nation, and major world regions
Shows understanding of the concept of culture	Can identify some cultural communities in the U.S. and major world regions
Can identify types of natural and human resources	Describes natural and human resources, and their uses
Shows incomplete knowledge of the constitution	Gives examples of government systems around the world
	Can identify constitutional values and principles
Can identify that different work is done by different branches of	Can identify some of the relationships among state, federal, and world
government	governments
Can identify the rights of a U.S. citizen	Can identify important historical documents that protect individual rights and responsibilities
Shows some understanding of basic economic principles	Can explain some important economic principles in a society
	Can identify some world economic systems
Can interpret and apply information from graphs, maps, and charts	Reads and interprets complex graphs, maps, and charts
Can clearly state and provide incomplete support for a position on a	Clearly states and provides incomplete support for a position on a public policy
public policy issue	issue

Page 6 of 6 1/07